Our Mission

The Colorado Center for the Book is a program department of Colorado Humanities which is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. CCFTB is devoted to encouraging reading and literacy in Colorado. We achieve this through educational programs and activities that nurture a love of books and reading. We are one of 50 state centers around the country, affiliated with the Library of Congress Center for the Book. We work to enhance Colorado's dynamic book community and bring together writers, readers, publishers, book-sellers, librarians and learners. Because we carry out such an extensive program of community activities, we depend heavily on volunteers and always welcome more.

Projects Include

The Colorado Book Awards and Book Awards Gala & Silent Auction • Motherhead • Letters About Literature • River of Words • Authors in the Classroom • Literary Soireés

Please Join in Supporting Us

The programs of the Colorado Center for the Book are made possible by funding from the Scientific and Cultural Facilities District of Denver, as well as corporate and foundation grants. Your donation and volunteer assistance allows us to provide these programs.
